More Italian Naval Units Reach Malta

By Louis V. HUNTER
VALETTA, Malta, Sept. 12.—(Delayed)—(CP)—Another force of Italian warships, including the 23,000-ton battleship Giulio Cesare, the 5,000-ton seaplane carrier Giuseppe Miraglia, four destroyers and a number of submarines have joined the 32 units of the Italian fleet that sailed into this port here Friday and Saturday to surrender to the Royal Navy in keeping with the terms of Italy's capitulation.

The arrivals brought to at least 38 the number of Italian warships in Allied hands, and naval authorities waited for word of other arrivals from a score of Mediterranean bases.

Of Italy's seven battleships five are in Allied hands, the Roma was taken by German planes and sent to the 35,000-ton Impero remains unreported.

Major Jap Air Base Is Captured by Allies

ALLIED SOUTHWEST PACIFIC HEADQUARTERS, Sept. 13.—Salamaua airbase was in Allied hands today after a rout of its Japanese defenders and Australian and American troops made possible for a swift drive to seize a 20-mile stretch of the New Guinea coastline.

The airfield, first major Japanese aerial base in the southwest Pacific to be captured, was the base of a 10-week campaign that turned into the most grueling of the war in the Guineas.

Australian and American soldiers swam across the Francisco River south of the unusual Salamaua field Saturday and overran the outposts of the main Japanese base, sending Japanese troops fleeing for safety toward the town itself.

Earlier the Japanese had gaged across the flooded river in full retreat, leaving hundreds of dead behind, and an artillery barrage forced them out of deep entrenched positions.

Axis-American Fifth Army Fights Nazi Counter-attacks

Some Divisions in Canada Being Disbanded

Home Defence Army Drastically Reduced

Flags Are Raised Over Large United States Supply Depot

By FRANK FLAHERTY
OTTAWA, Sept. 13.—(CP)—Reduction of Canada's home defence operational military force by some 20,000 men was announced by Defence Minister Ralston today in a move which involves disbanding the 7th and 8th Divisions and partial disbandment of the 6th Division.

The step is one of a number taken or contemplated in the light of an improved strategic situation, a pressing manpower shortage in Canada and the fact that the army has "passed the expansion stage."

In a rough estimate of the military forces in Canada given the issue of common by Defence Minister Ralston last June, the 250,000 men were divided into three equal parts, 80,000 in the operational units including the three divisions affected to today's announcement, 80,000 in the training stream and 80,000 in the home war establishment, engaged on staff work at headquarters and training centers and in servicing establishments.

CUT TO 60,000 MEN
Today's announcement, when carried into effect, will bring the home operational force down to something like 60,000.

Recently a number of training centers were closed in consequence of a reduction in the number of men in the training stream due to army having passed the expansion stage and the fact that from now on training will be for reinforcement of existing units, not for manning new units.

The two developments together will permit of a reduction of the 80,000 odd men in the home war establishment to 20,000.

Whereabouts Still Unknown

Germans Claim Mussolini Freed In Raid by Parachute Troops

LONDON, Sept. 13.—German boaters today said that former Premier Benito Mussolini had been snatched from the Italian government and Allied quarters speculated that, if true, this might mean the beginning of an attempt by Adolf Hitler to pump life into the discredited Fascist party and revive the Axis partnership.

Nazi reports of Mussolini's release coincided with word from various sources that Italians still under German domination were striking and resisting Hitlerian aggression to the best of their ability.

It was believed that Hitler was trying desperately to maintain the fiction of Fascism and Nazism as a fighting force, with Mussolini said the leader of Italians opposed to the Axis.

The German official news agency, DNB, reported from the Wilhelmstrasse in Berlin that Mussolini was in "a completely safe hands."

Big Raids Halted By Bad Weather
LONDON, Sept. 13.—(CP)—Heavy bombers of the R.A.F. B.C. 15, and U.S. Air Force were held back by bad weather from continuing their long-range campaign against Berlin and other Nazi war centers.

The remnants of the enemy garrison could retreat only into town itself, at the base of a small peninsula about a mile from the field, or up the coast toward besieged Lae, which is 25 miles by air and probably twice that by land, to the northeast.

But there they would be caught by Allied forces moving in from east and west. At least 20,000 enemy troops were believed trapped in the closing Allied lines.

Russian Army Reaches Edge of Bryansk Base

LONDON, Sept. 13.—(CP)—The Red Army in a new plunge has reached the edge of the Axis bastion of Bryansk, Moscow announced tonight, amid other Russian successes all along the great front stretching southwest to the Sea of Azov. ARMY HAS 2,387 SICILY CASUALTIES
OTTAWA, Sept. 13.—(CP)—The defence department today announced the total number of casualties received from overseas by the Canadian (Active) Army in the Sicilian campaign to Sept. 10 was 2,387.

Officers in the list numbered 171 and other ranks 2,216. In detail the list showed 38 officers killed or died of wounds, 122 were wounded and 137 missing or prisoners of war.

The department's announcement said the figures were based on individual reports received from overseas by the records office at national defence headquarters, and were "subject to checking and correction."

Fighting Is Heavy On Salerno Front South of Naples

British forces advancing from Taranto beyond Altamura in southern Italy have reached Bari, 50 miles up the heel of the Italian boot, the BBC reported today. "One report says we are already in Bari," the broadcast, recorded by NBC, said. A similar earlier report had lacked confirmation.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa, Sept. 13.—The Anglo-American 5th Army beat off repeated heavy counter-attacks on the Salerno front south of Naples today as the Nazi 10th Panzer division battled desperately to hold open an escape corridor for their troops falling back from southern Italy under British and Canadian pressure.

While the Eighth Army seized Crotone and struck toward the Bari sector 100 miles to the south, crack Nazi tank forces were hurled against the Anglo-American bridgehead at Salerno in the bitterest fighting of the campaign.

The enemy has selected excellent defensive points on high ground from which to make their counter-thrusts and their artillery was installed on hills that commanded beaches and road junctions. The Nazis were showing the greatest determination of the Mediterranean conflict but are failing in their counter-attacks so far.

American troops landed west of Salerno pushed over the mountains and were battling to take tank units within sight of Mount Vesuvius, according to a front line dispatch from British United Press correspondent Reynolds Packard, who said the fighting was furious.

(The BBC said the British and Americans had landed Sherman tanks in the Salerno sector. An NBC broadcast said the Allies had advanced two miles from Salerno along the road leading past Mount Vesuvius to Naples, while Nazi airplanes speeded up the German evacuation from southern Italy, where the interior town of Altamura, southwest of Bari, was reported captured by Montgomery's troops. German broadcasts claimed the Allies had been forced back to the town of Salerno and the adjacent coastal strip.)

Church Studies Mission Work Among Indians

By H. H. GORDON

TORONTO, Sept. 12. (CP)—Bishops and clerical members of the general synod of the Church of England in Canada occupied points in Toronto and other cities in the diocese yesterday. Thanksgiving services were held in all Anglican churches in commemoration of the 50th anniversary of the founding of the general synod.

Similar services will be held in other dioceses of the Dominion on Sept. 28, by which time the 200 delegates to the assembly will have returned to their homes.

Saturday's sessions of the general council covered a variety of subjects with particular attention paid to Indian and Oriental mission work. These matters came up when debate on the report of the mission society of the church was required and completed with the adoption of the report.

INDIAN WORKERS

A plea for consecrated workers among the Indians was made by Rev. H. A. Alderwood in presenting the report of the Indian and Eskimo residential school commission. "We need 200 workers," he said. "The church has settled down comfortably in regard to its Indian work. If the church lets it drop there are others ready to take it up."

Rev. W. Hunt, Edmonton, appealed for wide circulation of reports of the church's work in the field to counteract stereotypes of Indians leaving the residential schools reverberated to their old ways. This might be true in some cases, he said, but in the main the church's efforts had gained a good measure of success.

F. E. Anfild, principal of the Indian residential school at Kesteven, B.C., and Archbishop W. E. J. Paul, Prince Albert, Sask., also spoke on the church's work among the Indians. Mr. Anfild declared that great success had attended the efforts to Christianize the Indians on the west coast.

TELLS OF CONDITIONS

John J. Lofthouse, bishop of Kesteven, told of conditions among the Indians in his huge diocese stretching up to Hudson Bay. He said they were keenly anxious to go to school for their children and increase the plant of the residential schools. Bishop Lofthouse said 150 miles north of Churchill, he hoped that a school would be built in the northern part of the diocese as soon as the government could undertake the work.

The synod then turned to the question of Indian mission work in this country. A committee of co-ordination was advocated in the report of the committee on Indian affairs presented by Archbishop S. F. Tackaberry of Edmonton.

The committee recommended the setting up of a permanent committee on Indian missions and the employment of a full-time secretary to coordinate the training of candidates for holy orders and the establishment of a training centre for workers was also recommended.

The committee limited its work to a study of the situation in the northern parts of Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and the Mackenzie River basin. On suggestion of the postmaster the report was sent to the executive council.

Rev. Sir F. C. C. Heathcote, bishop of New Westminster, told of the work among the Indians in British Columbia that had been discontinued by the war. The Oriental problem was no longer one for the western provinces only and now concerned the whole of Canada.

EDUCATION PROBLEM

The main question was the problem of education of the growing generation of Indian children in British Columbia. Following the removal of all Japanese and Canadian children of Japanese ancestry to coastal points for security reasons the mission stations in the west were closed. Prince Rupert and elsewhere had been closed.

More money for the work was needed, St. Francis said, and his motion that the question of financial aid be taken up when the church's general expansion policy was under consideration next week was approved.

There was a brief discussion on the subject of prayer book revision in which a number of speakers stressed the need for changes soon to be made.

Finally a motion by Rev. Canon B. A. Sims, Kirkland Lake, Ont., was carried. It urged that the committee on revision of the Book of Common Prayer be authorized to take all necessary action to provide for the consideration of age, sex, position, and other factors as possible for the revision and enrichment of the Prayer Book.

LONDON, Sept. 13. (AP)—Destruction of a U-boat in the Atlantic recently by an R.A.F. Sunderland of which five of the crew were Canadian and six were American, was announced yesterday.

The coastal command Sunderland was crippled by anti-aircraft fire from the submarine and crashed into the ocean after releasing its depth charges.

Six of the crew of seven of the big aircraft survived. They and the survivors of the U-boat, which was rescued by a destroyer after 40 minutes in the water.

MURKIN, County Durham, Eng. Sept. 13. (CP)—Richard Shaw, a Labour member of parliament for Seaham, said in a speech yesterday that the Dominions are entitled to play a larger part in the affairs of the British Commonwealth, both in economic and political policy.

Shaw suggested an "imperial parliament" in which all the Dominions and colonies would be adequately represented.

That may be the solution of the Indian problem, he said.

Hull Outlines United States Foreign Policy

By J. F. SANDERSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. (CP)—The United States stands ready to play its part in a postwar world in which countries will go along like self-respecting friends but ready always to employ their collective force to prevent the monstrous spectre of war. Secretary of State Cordell Hull declared last night.

"Readiness to use force, if necessary, for the maintenance of peace is maintained on our people today," Secretary emphasized in calling also for an international court of justice to settle legal disputes between nations.

OUTLINES POLICY

In a brief outline of American foreign policy, his first major speech in more than a year, Hull said over and over again that the constitution on which our nation is based must stay together in peace.

"I read our history and the temper of our people today," he said, "and I am convinced that our nation intends to do its part."

The broadcast speech of the No. 2 man in the Roosevelt administration was regarded as a singularly significant because of its timing. Hull spoke shortly after the retirement of Sumner Welles as under-secretary of state and before the department had been under fire for failure to promulgate a resolution and to establish friendly relations with the Soviet Union.

Wallace States Action Needed To Win Peace

CHICAGO, Sept. 13. (AP)—Vice-President Henry A. Wallace submitted to the United States Saturday night the slogan "Democracy First" in the same breath as he called for "peace."

"The battle cry 'America First' means that sooner or later we shall fight ourselves alone, encircled and fighting against a hostile combination," he said.

But the slogan "Democracy First," intelligently followed up and vigorously applied, can lead to peace, he declared.

The Vice President's speech was prepared for Chicago Saturday night by the Chicago United Nations Committee to win the peace.

Italian Armistice Arranged at Lisbon

By ROBERT STURDEVANT

LONDON, Sept. 13. (AP)—Italian diplomats petitioned British representatives in two central countries for an armistice in the first week of August and the actual terms were laid down in Lisbon conference, according to an authoritative account yesterday of secret negotiations for Italy's surrender.

The Lisbon conference was presided over by Sir Ronald Campbell, British ambassador to Portugal, the account stated, adding that the armistice itself was signed by the American General Bedell Smith for the Allies and Gen. Castellano for the Italians in the presence of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Gen. Sir Harold Alexander.

Maj. Gen. Smith, Eisenhower's personal chief of staff, The Soviet and Dominion governments were kept in the loop of the proceedings from the beginning, the account made public here.

Gen. Eisenhower, who had been in the middle of August an unnamed Italian general presented himself to the British ambassador, Sir Ronald, at Lisbon.

It was reported to the British government, which informed the Italian government, that the armistice was signed at Lisbon on the day which it was subsequently learned, coincided with the arrival of the first general in Rome.

As evidence of their sincerity, the Italians sent with this second general an Italian general, General Carlo Di Vittorio, who had been an Italian prisoner of war but was released for this purpose.

High officers of Gen. Eisenhower's staff went to Lisbon, where meetings took place attended by the American charge d'affaires. The Italian general, after a brief stay in Lisbon, was sent back to Rome.

P.E.I. Election Campaigns in Home Stretch

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I.

Sept. 13. (CP)—Prince Edward Island's general election campaign hits the home stretch today as the opposing forces go into an island general election. Several candidates are still in the running, but the odds are heavily in favor of the 30 seats in the legislature.

C.C.F. ENTERS FIELD

Entry of the C.C.F. into the provincial political picture for the first time accounted mainly for the swiftness early last week. Each of the major party organizations has put up 30 candidates, while the C.C.F. has placed nine men in the running.

The other three candidates are independent Liberals, and the only departure from custom in a province where almost no candidate has been straight two-party fighter for every seat.

The house will have 12 members and 13 assemblies, a pair from each of the 15 ridings. The house is unicameral and the only distinction between the types of representation is in the voting qualifications for each.

At dissolution the premier was leading a force of 10 Liberals in the house and three seats were won by Progressive Conservatives.

The Bulletin's FOT SHOW by Hal Dean

SPORTS EDITOR

PENE RENAUD, somewhat short on control but long on speed, really had the Yanks in a quandary in the opening game of the playoff between the U.S. Army and Calgary Navy's spiked nine at Renfrew Park yesterday afternoon.

The Football League continues to look pretty good at this time, although they did catch the Edmonton champions in an off-day as far as fielding is concerned. Calgary appears to have considerable batting power, but the Yanks should take them and it would not be surprising to see them do it in three straight.

Wayne Adams is expected to get the call for the Arson tonight's game, with Kelly Riddle, the Medicine Hat ace of the H.M.C.S. "Terminator" mound staff on duty for the Calgaryans. It promises to be quite a session for Riddle as he acquired quite a reputation as a chucker in the south.

YANKS OPPORTUNITIES
YANKS lived up to their reputation as opportunists. All season they have almost invariably capitalized on their chances and yesterday was no exception. Even in the ninth when Dave Fortune gave her final nod, the Army was all set with "Cap" Wrigglesworth and the payoff court waiting on second.

McCDonald's theft of home in the fourth was a daring and perfectly timed effort, with Giamuzzi's call "Moose" for short. The Calgary catcher all told put in quite a satisfactory afternoon—three hits, two runs and a triple and, in addition, three runs along with seven putouts and a trio of assists.

Doug Lane does plenty of class as a first baseman. "Harry Ornest" had a tough break when he went far out of his territory to field Harry Baldwin's drive in the first inning only to have the ball over Lane's head. The late Harry Ornest out at first on Baldwin's ground ball as the defense was not hard on the eyes either.

Harley Miller had rather a quiet afternoon at short with quite a few errors, but he converted a hit-by-pitcher and a walk into two very valuable runs. Harry Baldwin got only one hit, which is considerably below his pace for the year, but it wound up in a run. It was the last game at Renfrew this season.

An error on Gino Valent's fly ball to left field with two down in the ninth permitted "Cap" Frank Wrigglesworth to score and gave the U.S. Army Yanks a 7-6 decision over Calgary Navy at Renfrew Park on Sunday afternoon. A crowd estimated at 7,500 was on hand for the opener in the best-of-five baseball series, the second game of which starts at 6 o'clock tonight.

The sailors from H.M.C.S. "Terminator" picked up Minsky for 10 hits, but the big leftfielder retired seven on strikes, issued no walks and yielded only three earned runs. Hec McDonald, catcher for the visitors stole home in the fourth.

Rene Renaud allowed only four hits in his decision, with six in the opening stages and hit the first two men up. He handed out six passes all told and uncorked a pair of bad pitches. Renaud registered seven strikeouts and with the exception of the two slips was accorded excellent support.

Yanks, invariably a good fielding club had an off day, having six lapses charged up to them, but as the rest of the pitchers were of their scoring chances.

One Navy man, Kanik, got on through an error at first base in the opening inning, but the Yanks scored three runs, two of them unearned in their half. The Calgary chucker hit the first man to face him and came perilously close to beating Harry Ornest after making a great throw, but the ball was overthrown. First, Wrigglesworth scored and Miller went to third on the error.

Jerry Johnson singled into right field and two more runs came in. The Yanks scored again, but Gray and Phillips both struck out.

Hec McDonald, Calgary receiver, started off the first frame with a lead three runs, two of them unearned in their half. The Yanks scored three runs, two of them unearned in their half. The Calgary chucker hit the first man to face him and came perilously close to beating Harry Ornest after making a great throw, but the ball was overthrown. First, Wrigglesworth scored and Miller went to third on the error.

The schedule is to open May 15 and will run for four months. The first game will be at Renfrew Park on Sunday, Sept. 13.

Councils Asked to Authorize Electric Power Pool

Proposal Recommended As Insurance Against Winter Coal Shortage

Establishment of a voluntary electric power pool in which the City of Edmonton and the Calgary Power Co. would participate is being recommended by the city commissioners to the city council, and will come before that body for consideration at Monday night's meeting.

Saw Today

The pool is to be established as insurance against breakdown of coal supplies through the possibility of a shortage this winter, if approved by council and is recommended by the Dominion power controller.

The following communication has been received by the City of Edmonton from the Calgary Power Company following conversations between city commissioners and the company's representatives, the city commissioners and the city's power superintendent:

VOLUNTARY POOL
 1. On being requested by the City of Edmonton, the Calgary Power Company has agreed to participate in a voluntary power pool for the purpose of conserving coal during the present coal shortage in Alberta. To this end the Calgary Power Company Limited is prepared to enter into the following arrangements:

(1) Pay monthly for all such energy as is required by the City of Edmonton to supply the city's gas-fired Victoria Park plant.

(2) Pay 21 mills per kilowatt-hour for all such energy supplied by the city from East Kootenay Power Company.

(3) In the event of a coal shortage, the City of Edmonton and the Calgary Power Company, if the above suggested arrangements are carried out they shall not in any way affect the existing agreement between the city and the company, and the company will continue to return to the city all available power generated by its hydro plants to the existing agreement.

FAVORABLE AGREEMENT
 In their report to city council the commissioners of the City of Edmonton stated that the proposed arrangement is a very favorable one to the city, and has been made possible only through the co-operation of the Calgary Power Co. This company is supplying gas to the Calgary Power Co. at an extremely low rate at the request of the city council. The commissioners recommended acceptance of the proposal.

Air Cadet Movement Shows Tremendous Development Since Commencement of War

From isolated units existing prior to the outbreak of the war the air cadet movement has grown into an ever expanding force in Canada's war effort with an enrolment of 23,000 members at present, and an objective of 35,000 members throughout Canada before the end of this year, Gilbert Eaton, Winnipeg, stated in an interview here Monday.

Mr. Eaton, who is a national director of the Air Cadet League of Canada and chairman of the Manitoba provincial committee, arrived here on Saturday from Jasper Park with his mother, Lady Eaton. He conferred Monday with J. H. Wildman, a member of the Alberta committee and chairman of the Edmonton regional committee of the League, and H. L. A. H. Anderson, Ottawa, public relations officer for the Western Canadian division.

From a small beginning the air cadet movement has become a very important factor in Canada's war effort. The isolated cadet groups in existence prior to the war have been consolidated in the Air Cadet League of Canada, which has a membership of 23,000 members throughout Canada.

Commenting on the birth of the air cadet movement, Mr. Eaton said that in Winnipeg the first cadet group was formed prior to the war at the request of the juvenile court officials.

He said that in Winnipeg the first cadet group was formed prior to the war at the request of the juvenile court officials. He said that in Winnipeg the first cadet group was formed prior to the war at the request of the juvenile court officials.

There are 325 cadet squadrons throughout Canada at present, and new squadrons are being formed each week. In Alberta there are 43 with a total membership of 2,200. In Saskatchewan there are 43 with a total membership of 2,200. In Manitoba there are 43 with a total membership of 2,200.

Since February, 1943, the first day of the air cadet movement, more than 100 air cadets have joined the Royal Canadian Air Force and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. A similar number had joined prior to that date.

The air cadet training fits the boys for service in the R.C.A.F. and the objective of this training is to prepare the cadets so that they may proceed directly from the cadet squadron to the flying training centre. Great progress has been made in this direction, Mr. Eaton stated.

Free Licenses For Those in Armed Forces
 Only active service personnel of Canadian or American armed services are eligible for free game licenses under the recent announced provincial government plan. E. S. Huels, fish and game commissioner, said that many applications have been received by his department from civilian workers of large construction companies for the free license, but are not entitled to receive them.

Uniforms Teach Dress Smartness

TORONTO, Sept. 12.—(C.P.)—Toronto youth say that Canadian women are going to be smarter, better groomed when they wear uniforms.

It is because so many of them are now in uniform.

They are wearing the khaki, airforce or navy blue, have made women—quite literally—pull up their socks.

And the women themselves say they'll never go back to sloppy looks.

Miss Margaret Hart, a former Girl Scout, says that women are going to have more respect for well-dressed clothes when they go to work.

She says that they've realized their full value for day-time wear.

They will rush back to spike-heeled sandals for evening. But women will never again forsake well-made uniforms.

The services have taught them to look after their feet. They'll never go back to sloppy looks.

Looking Around!

Non-Priority Pretty

Metals gone to war, but what care we? Not a whit, while clever fingers can still whittle wood into the smartest of substitutes. Like the wooden compass in our Cosmetics Section! Generous squares of natural or dark wood, nicely grained—not too bulky for your handbag, either. We like the one with a small, shiny maple leaf on the lid—you, perhaps, will go for the sentimental heart motif, or the leather design, or the sparrow hound. For loose powder, of course—and a heart-warming gift at $2.75.

Stuffed... But Not "Stuffy"

We lost our heart in the Fairy Goods Section. Just a case of love at first sight—for some stuffed toys on display there. Animals, of course—Percy the Pig and Eddie the Elephant, both fat and jolly—and a cornet of service dolls, the small try will adore. There's a beauty of the C.W.A.C. and Nanny the Red Cross nurse, and Jack the Sailor and Bob the Soldier, all dressed in regulation uniform and so happy in the service. For 25c you get the makings of one doll and instructions too—how about them for babies or non-distant Christmas gifts?

From Old Quebec

No aspect of Canadian life has more picturesque charm than the quaint old villages of Quebec. Andre Bourgeois, clever French Canadian craftsman, captures the colorful spirit of the Habitant in carved wood shadow box pictures. We have a number of them—and they're captivating. Each figure or article in the picture is carved from wood and realistically colored—the whole scene is contained in a deep wooden frame. You'll find quiet village in one called "Prayer"—vigorous life in another called "Logging Camp"—and there are others. They come at $2.25 each and we recommend them especially to our American friends in search of a souvenir.

"We've Got Beads That Dingle-Dangle"

Yes—wood again! Big round beads of wood in the most charming colors. Long strings of em in glistening natural shade, in gay gold, brilliant blue, riotous red, giddy green—perfect perpetuators with sweaters and wool dresses. Strings in two-color combinations, too—wooden rings that make turquoise with brown, red with green, yellow with blue—all happy unions! Just $1.00 for any of these strings—and they're 10c with campus and career girls!

The Angoras of Abercorn...

Sound intriguing, don't they? And so they are. They're the beautiful, fine wool sweaters that have just arrived at EATON'S—dressed up especially to go with your Fall and Winter costumes. Wool that's fine as fine—when into swarms of thrilling involutions—and HAND woven, if you please! Generous squares, they are—so thick, so warm, so better than the latest pink and white one we saw, unless it was the one in two shades of green! Other colorings, too—and all at $1.95 each. Put them on your Must-See, Must-Buy list.

A "Hanging" Matter

Keeping your clothes in neat order in your closet is just as easy as a heap gets more fun with these colorful, new hangers! Light, strong plastic in clear white, red, green, mauve or yellow. The top is mounted for hanging slips or nightgowns or evening dresses, the underside has notches for hanging skirts! Handy, huh? You'll want ten for yourself, of course, and two or three would make a nice gift each to a personal shopper. Just 50c each in the Notions Section.
